

BOOK

JOHN HAWTHORNE, Son and
Anderson of Authors,
Did His Part.

FOUGHT WITH THE 71ST.

Wrote His Mother a Description of the Furious Charge
Up the Steep.

MEN KILLED ALL ABOUT HIM.

Five Days and Nights of Steady
Fighting Made the Flag of Truce a Welcome Sight.

John Hawthorne, son of Julian Hawthorne and grandson of Nathaniel Hawthorne, celebrated author in his generation, is a member of Company A, Seventy-first Regiment, Young Hawthorne sends home to his mother a graphic description of the three days fighting at Santiago, in which he took an active part. The letter, which praises highly the conduct of his comrades under fire, is as follows:

In the Field, Cuba, July 6.

Dear Mother—
 I write to let you know that I am still alive and well, though I am rather surprised to find that you have been so anxious about me.

We had a terrible battle that lasted three days, and in which we lost 1,600 killed and wounded. We drove the Spaniards from their position, and now have them at our mercy. They are being surrounded. I never knew what a cruel and barbarous thing war was until I had been through this battle. I never saw a man in a position of such danger before. I am in favor of international arbitration.

I have expected to come through the battle alive, much less without a scratch. At least a dozen men were killed or wounded that morning. One of the men who had been shot through the arm, was lying in the road, and I saw him being carried off. The Spaniards were located on a high hill about two miles from our position. They were firing at us with their rifles and machine guns. We were ordered to go up the hill and capture it. We did so, and the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position. We were ordered to go up the hill and capture it. We did so, and the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position.

It seemed certain death to get up the hill, but we went back all right and reported. The Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position. We were ordered to go up the hill and capture it. We did so, and the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position.

The officers in the regulars are magnificent. They led their men to one of the most gallant charges that has ever been made. The English, French and other foreign officers said it was impossible to capture the hill, but we did so. We were ordered to go up the hill and capture it. We did so, and the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position.

The Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position. We were ordered to go up the hill and capture it. We did so, and the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position.

On the second night of the fight the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position. We were ordered to go up the hill and capture it. We did so, and the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position.

On the third night of the fight the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position. We were ordered to go up the hill and capture it. We did so, and the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position.

On the fourth night of the fight the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position. We were ordered to go up the hill and capture it. We did so, and the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position.

On the fifth night of the fight the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position. We were ordered to go up the hill and capture it. We did so, and the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position.

On the sixth night of the fight the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position. We were ordered to go up the hill and capture it. We did so, and the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position.

On the seventh night of the fight the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position. We were ordered to go up the hill and capture it. We did so, and the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position.

On the eighth night of the fight the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position. We were ordered to go up the hill and capture it. We did so, and the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position.

On the ninth night of the fight the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position. We were ordered to go up the hill and capture it. We did so, and the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position.

On the tenth night of the fight the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position. We were ordered to go up the hill and capture it. We did so, and the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position.

On the eleventh night of the fight the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position. We were ordered to go up the hill and capture it. We did so, and the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position.

On the twelfth night of the fight the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position. We were ordered to go up the hill and capture it. We did so, and the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position.

On the thirteenth night of the fight the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position. We were ordered to go up the hill and capture it. We did so, and the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position.

On the fourteenth night of the fight the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position. We were ordered to go up the hill and capture it. We did so, and the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position.

On the fifteenth night of the fight the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position. We were ordered to go up the hill and capture it. We did so, and the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position.

On the sixteenth night of the fight the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position. We were ordered to go up the hill and capture it. We did so, and the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position.

On the seventeenth night of the fight the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position. We were ordered to go up the hill and capture it. We did so, and the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position.

On the eighteenth night of the fight the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position. We were ordered to go up the hill and capture it. We did so, and the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position.

On the nineteenth night of the fight the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position. We were ordered to go up the hill and capture it. We did so, and the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position.

On the twentieth night of the fight the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position. We were ordered to go up the hill and capture it. We did so, and the Spaniards were driven down. We then moved on to the next position.

WOMEN IN THE WAR

For hours she might have been seen on Thirty-third street. She appeared there first in the murky fog of the early morning; she remained there through the moist heat of noon. The baby in her arms wailed fitfully. She hushed it, sometimes walking, sometimes sitting. Constantly her eyes rested upon No. 27. A dozen times she approached the steps that led to it, only to retreat, as though the nervous slight of them had somehow intimidated her. She seemed more composed before the great doors of the Waldorf, where richly dressed women jostled her in passing. She was so ragged that she jarred upon the scene.

"Can't you get a move on you?" asked the watchman, whose duty it is to preserve the picture. At the same moment he must have caught sight of the baby's face, for he said more kindly: "The youngster looks sick. You'd ought to take it somewhere—not be standing about with it."

The women seemed to fire the woman with sudden resolve, for she turned and walked straight up the winding steps that lead to the Soldiers' Protective Association.

"It's sick," she said at the door. "Or I never have come for the third time. But I read of the other young man that died while his mother waited—so I guessed I wouldn't."

When this mother's story was dragged from her it became apparent that she had been in and about Thirty-third street with her sick baby in her arms just six hours. "The Soldiers' Protective Association is there to help as many times as it is necessary," said Major Byrne, its president. "Our boys are constantly on the lookout for new cases, but we expect the old ones to return of their own accord without further urging."

Instead of diminishing, the number of those needing help has increased. Some remain in town to plan and to work. Yesterday they announced joyfully that the second schooner of ice would leave from Maine to-day and make straight for the blocking squadron on the north coast of Cuba. It carries with it 1,000 tons of ice, which will be distributed between Cardenas, Matanzas and Havana.

Dr. A. M. Lesser, surgeon-in-chief of the American National Red Cross, who has for several days been confined in a hospital near Playa del Este with yellow fever, which he contracted while nursing, is, according to a cable dispatch, improving and in a fair way to recover.

No mention was made in the dispatch of the condition of Mrs. Lesser or the Red Cross nurses who were also reported as stricken with the fever. It is generally supposed that their condition is favorable.

Dr. C. R. Gill, now at Key West, has been authorized to employ ten immune nurses, if he can secure them, and to take them to Santiago. If the yacht Red Cross, which returned to Key West on Sunday in a slightly disabled condition, can be repaired in time the immune nurses will be sent on it to Santiago.

For the Liederkrans Society, a branch of the Women's Patriotic Association, Mrs. Schneider investigated yesterday six new cases of destitute families of soldiers. All were relieved.

The Royal Santiago Circle of Mothers of Protectors is the name of a novel organization formed by a number of women of Plainfield, N. J., whose sons have been engaged in the siege of Santiago. It is the purpose of the organization to send such conveniences and delicacies to the

of the soldiers as they received pay, but in this long period of waiting they have also incurred debts.

Dozens of enthusiastic persons responded yesterday morning to the Red Cross call for nurses for the front. They crowded the hospital in On Hundredth street, and overflowed into the street, where they discussed the situation and the work to be done.

"Oh, I'm just crazy," said one. "I'm not one part to go!" "I've lived in Florida and seen loads of soldiers," said another. "I'd rather nurse a wounded person than do anything," said a third.

These remarks were echoed on the air to the very ears of a committee awaiting to make examinations. A number of women of Plainfield, N. J., whose sons have been engaged in the siege of Santiago. It is the purpose of the organization to send such conveniences and delicacies to the

of the soldiers as they received pay, but in this long period of waiting they have also incurred debts.

Dozens of enthusiastic persons responded yesterday morning to the Red Cross call for nurses for the front. They crowded the hospital in On Hundredth street, and overflowed into the street, where they discussed the situation and the work to be done.

"Oh, I'm just crazy," said one. "I'm not one part to go!" "I've lived in Florida and seen loads of soldiers," said another. "I'd rather nurse a wounded person than do anything," said a third.

These remarks were echoed on the air to the very ears of a committee awaiting to make examinations. A number of women of Plainfield, N. J., whose sons have been engaged in the siege of Santiago. It is the purpose of the organization to send such conveniences and delicacies to the

of the soldiers as they received pay, but in this long period of waiting they have also incurred debts.

Dozens of enthusiastic persons responded yesterday morning to the Red Cross call for nurses for the front. They crowded the hospital in On Hundredth street, and overflowed into the street, where they discussed the situation and the work to be done.

"Oh, I'm just crazy," said one. "I'm not one part to go!" "I've lived in Florida and seen loads of soldiers," said another. "I'd rather nurse a wounded person than do anything," said a third.

These remarks were echoed on the air to the very ears of a committee awaiting to make examinations. A number of women of Plainfield, N. J., whose sons have been engaged in the siege of Santiago. It is the purpose of the organization to send such conveniences and delicacies to the

of the soldiers as they received pay, but in this long period of waiting they have also incurred debts.

Dozens of enthusiastic persons responded yesterday morning to the Red Cross call for nurses for the front. They crowded the hospital in On Hundredth street, and overflowed into the street, where they discussed the situation and the work to be done.

"Oh, I'm just crazy," said one. "I'm not one part to go!" "I've lived in Florida and seen loads of soldiers," said another. "I'd rather nurse a wounded person than do anything," said a third.

These remarks were echoed on the air to the very ears of a committee awaiting to make examinations. A number of women of Plainfield, N. J., whose sons have been engaged in the siege of Santiago. It is the purpose of the organization to send such conveniences and delicacies to the

of the soldiers as they received pay, but in this long period of waiting they have also incurred debts.

Dozens of enthusiastic persons responded yesterday morning to the Red Cross call for nurses for the front. They crowded the hospital in On Hundredth street, and overflowed into the street, where they discussed the situation and the work to be done.

"Oh, I'm just crazy," said one. "I'm not one part to go!" "I've lived in Florida and seen loads of soldiers," said another. "I'd rather nurse a wounded person than do anything," said a third.

These remarks were echoed on the air to the very ears of a committee awaiting to make examinations. A number of women of Plainfield, N. J., whose sons have been engaged in the siege of Santiago. It is the purpose of the organization to send such conveniences and delicacies to the

of the soldiers as they received pay, but in this long period of waiting they have also incurred debts.

Dozens of enthusiastic persons responded yesterday morning to the Red Cross call for nurses for the front. They crowded the hospital in On Hundredth street, and overflowed into the street, where they discussed the situation and the work to be done.

EXPORTS DEPART

HOLLAND'S BOAT.

Engineer Lowe, United States Navy, Takes a Trip and Praises Her Highly.

ANOTHER FROM SWEDEN.

He Watches in a Tug and Says She Will Revolutionize Naval Warfare.

The Holland Torpedo Boat escorted around New York Bay in a mysterious and wonderful manner yesterday afternoon. She behaved as if she knew that Chief Engineer John Lowe, of the United States Navy, was making the first submarine trip ever taken by a United States naval official, and that a sharp-eyed expert of the Swedish-Norwegian Navy was watching her every movement from the deck of an attending tug.

The test was arranged for Lieutenant Geelmuyden, of the Swedish Navy, a brilliant young officer whom King Oscar detailed to watch the work of American ships. Chief Engineer Lowe, of the United States Navy, had been instructed by the Secretary of the Navy to examine and report the merits of the submarine craft.

C. A. Morris, consulting engineer of the Holland Company, took aboard a tug Lieutenant Geelmuyden, Professor Maxim, engineer and brother of the inventor of the Maxim gun, Mrs. Maxim, L. M. Hamburger, assistant special commissioner of the United States to the Paris Exposition, and John Brisben Walker, Jr.

The Holland ran down the bay at ten o'clock, and was nearly opposite the Crescent Athletic Club's boat house on the Bay Ridge shore. Then the turret-cap was closed, the boat was hoisted up by a crane, and with an easy, gliding motion it descended into the water.

The first descent lasted fifteen seconds, and the surface just in time to escape being run down by a big lumber schooner.

"I saw her coming while we were under the water," said Inventor Holland. "She couldn't have caught us."

"Marvelous!" exclaimed the Norwegian officer, who had been with the boat. "Beautifully she handled! And you couldn't get a sight on her with a whole battery of rapid-fire guns!"

The Holland discharged a dummy projectile from her forward gun. A sound, half explosion, half cough, explained the difficulty of the device. The projectile was driven forward, and the heavy log of wood which represents a hundred-pound cylinder of gun metal made a curving flight of 300 yards and struck the water with a great splash.

"Now, if she only has speed, too!" "Hook her up, Niles," shouted Engineer Morris, and a "home in her teeth" the half submerged phenomenon darted ahead at twelve knots speed.

The Holland was tied up at the dock Lieutenant Geelmuyden, Professor Maxim and Mr. Hamburger descended to view the marvels of Holland's mechanism. "It is a wonderful invention," said Lieutenant Geelmuyden. "Wonderful, indeed! The problem of submarine warfare appears to be solved. It is a great step forward."

"I had a most enjoyable trip," said Engineer Lowe, "and I'm the only naval officer in our service who has ever had the experience of a submarine cruise. Further, I may not say until I have made my report to the Secretary of the Navy, which I shall do at once."

Many Candidates for Training School Principals Cannot Compete. The Central Board of Education yesterday adopted these new requirements of candidates for the position of principal of a training school:

Graduation from a college or university recognized by the Regents of the University of the State of New York. Ten years' experience in teaching, at least six of which must have been in the normal or training schools.

Few teachers in the city have these qualifications, and the requirements will affect several teachers who intended to go for the position. It will make ineligible Henry W. Jameson, who was proposed by Superintendent Jasper.

To carry into effect the new salary schedule which has been adopted in Brooklyn, $216,325 was appropriated.

After all business on hand was finished President Hubbell congratulated the members of the Board on having disposed of the serious problems which had confronted them, and wished them all a pleasant outing, yesterday's meeting being the last before Fall.

His Insurance Did Not Insure. Frank W. Anthony, a lawyer, was arrested in his office at No. 186 Montague street, Brooklyn, yesterday, charged with fraudulent use of the mails. It is alleged that he represented himself as agent for non-existent insurance companies. Robert DuBar, of Elizabethport, Pa., says he paid Anthony $500 for a policy on his life, which he was unable to collect from Anthony.

Corner-Stone of Hospital Laid. Commissioner Keller formally begins the New Gouverneur Institution. The corner-stone of the new Gouverneur Hospital was laid yesterday at noon by Commissioner Keller, of the Department of Charities, in the presence of the Mayor, Governor and Water streets. All of the doctors connected with the institution were present, and quite a crowd of interested visitors.

The building will require about a year for completion, and will cost about $200,000. It will have a commodious hall for 150 patients. It is to be four stories in height and of brick, with terra cotta trimmings. It will be a fine, modern building, and will be fitted with complete appliances.

It is expected that on the completion of the new building the present Gouverneur Hospital will be torn down, and its site converted into a flower garden, which will adjoin the north wing of the new hospital and be walled in as part of the hospital property.

Prince of Wales Progressing Favorably. London, July 19.—The Prince of Wales, who is suffering from a fracture of the left kneecap, is making satisfactory progress, and is now able to walk, although he passed a restless night.

They climbed to the roof to capture Mr. Grady's burglars and found one gaudy old tomato doing a cake walk in the moonlight. Policeman Sheridan said Mr. Grady made him tired.

At 12 o'clock Monday night Mr. Grady was again awakened by the racket on the roof. He ran to the window and yelled for help. Policeman Sheridan, three blocks away, heard the cries and responded with two other policemen.

They climbed to the roof to capture Mr. Grady's burglars and found one gaudy old tomato doing a cake walk in the moonlight. Policeman Sheridan said Mr. Grady made him tired.

At 12 o'clock Monday night Mr. Grady was again awakened by the racket on the roof. He ran to the window and yelled for help. Policeman Sheridan, three blocks away, heard the cries and responded with two other policemen.

They climbed to the roof to capture Mr. Grady's burglars and found one gaudy old tomato doing a cake walk in the moonlight. Policeman Sheridan said Mr. Grady made him tired.

At 12 o'clock Monday night Mr. Grady was again awakened by the racket on the roof. He ran to the window and yelled for help. Policeman Sheridan, three blocks away, heard the cries and responded with two other policemen.

They climbed to the roof to capture Mr. Grady's burglars and found one gaudy old tomato doing a cake walk in the moonlight. Policeman Sheridan said Mr. Grady made him tired.

At 12 o'clock Monday night Mr. Grady was again awakened by the racket on the roof. He ran to the window and yelled for help. Policeman Sheridan, three blocks away, heard the cries and responded with two other policemen.

They climbed to the roof to capture Mr. Grady's burglars and found one gaudy old tomato doing a cake walk in the moonlight. Policeman Sheridan said Mr. Grady made him tired.

At 12 o'clock Monday night Mr. Grady was again awakened by the racket on the roof. He ran to the window and yelled for help. Policeman Sheridan, three blocks away, heard the cries and responded with two other policemen.

They climbed to the roof to capture Mr. Grady's burglars and found one gaudy old tomato doing a cake walk in the moonlight. Policeman Sheridan said Mr. Grady made him tired.

At 12 o'clock Monday night Mr. Grady was again awakened by the racket on the roof. He ran to the window and yelled for help. Policeman Sheridan, three blocks away, heard the cries and responded with two other policemen.

They climbed to the roof to capture Mr. Grady's burglars and found one gaudy old tomato doing a cake walk in the moonlight. Policeman Sheridan said Mr. Grady made him tired.

NO PARTISANSHIP, SAYS M'CULLAGH.

The Elections Superintendent Says "Force Bill" Will Not Be So De Facto.

POLICE SHAKE-UP RUMOR.

Another Report That Chief Devery May Bother the New Republican Official.

John McCullagh, former chief of police, has qualified as State Superintendent of Elections for the Metropolitan Election District and will immediately begin to perfect the organization of his department for the enforcement of the law which created it. Mr. McCullagh took the oath of office in the Secretary of State's office at Albany yesterday and was in conference with Governor Black and Superintendent of Insurance Payn before and after he qualified for office. At the conclusion of the conference Chief McCullagh said:

"My conference with the Governor was devoted to the consideration of the provisions of the new law, and the talk that I came here to receive instructions as to how the Republican party wanted the law enforced is idle."

"It has been said that I will run my department in an absolutely partisan manner. That is absolutely false. The people of New York City know how the police force was handled by me last Fall, and I can say that from a police standpoint it was the only honest election New York City has ever had."

"The people of New York City know this, and they, as a whole, are not afraid that I will run my new department in a partisan manner."

"Last year I investigated 28,000 election cases with policemen in citizens' clothes, and not a complaint was received as to the conduct of my men. The deputies am to appoint are to have no more authority than the police did to make investigations, and yet a complaint has been received by my deputies will desecrate private houses and do about as they please."

"I don't know if it is not such a force law as the politicians call it." Superintendent McCullagh said he was not ready to announce the appointment of any of his assistants.

There was much commotion among the captains and members of the rank and file of the police force over the revival of the report that Chief Devery had made up his mind to shake things up. President Vreeland, however, has not known what the day knew little or nothing about the Chief's plans. Said Commissioner Hees:

"In the matter of transfers the Chief has resolved not to touch. I do not know what his plans are, but if there are to be any changes, they will be for the good of the service, of course."

Before August 15, it was predicted at Headquarters, Captain Sheehan will cease to be commander of the Tenderloin and be replaced by Captain Delaney. The latter is the captain whom Chief McCullagh refused to transfer from the Charles street to the Fifth street station. This refusal prevented the transfer of Captain Delaney to the Fifth street station. This refusal prevented the transfer of Captain Delaney to the Fifth street station.

Delaney was sent to the Fifth street station the day Chief Devery qualified. Commissioner Hees said he was not sure if he still better berth for him, and that is the Tenderloin. Where Sheehan is to go has not yet been decided.

Headquarters people also say that just prior to McCullagh's becoming really active Superintendent of Elections a thousand or more policemen are expected to be put on him may be put on other beats than they now follow.

NEW REQUIREMENTS BAR JASPER'S MAN. Many Candidates for Training School Principals Cannot Compete.

The Central Board of Education yesterday adopted these new requirements of candidates for the position of principal of a training school:

Graduation from a college or university recognized by the Regents of the University of the State of New York. Ten years' experience in teaching, at least six of which must have been in the normal or training schools.

Few teachers in the city have these qualifications, and the requirements will affect several teachers who intended to go for the position. It will make ineligible Henry W. Jameson, who was proposed by Superintendent Jasper.

To carry into effect the new salary schedule which has been adopted in Brooklyn, $216,325 was appropriated.

After all business on hand was finished President Hubbell congratulated the members of the Board on having disposed of the serious problems which had confronted them, and wished them all a pleasant outing, yesterday's meeting being the last before Fall.

His Insurance Did Not Insure. Frank W. Anthony, a lawyer, was arrested in his office at No. 186 Montague street, Brooklyn, yesterday, charged with fraudulent use of the mails. It is alleged that he represented himself as agent for non-existent insurance companies. Robert DuBar, of Elizabethport, Pa., says he paid Anthony $500 for a policy on his life, which he was unable to collect from Anthony.

Corner-Stone of Hospital Laid. Commissioner Keller formally begins the New Gouverneur Institution. The corner-stone of the new Gouverneur Hospital was laid yesterday at noon by Commissioner Keller, of the Department of Charities, in the presence of the Mayor, Governor and Water streets. All of the doctors connected with the institution were present, and quite a crowd of interested visitors.

The building will require about a year for completion, and will cost about $200,000. It will have a commodious hall for 150 patients. It is to be four stories in height and of brick, with terra cotta trimmings. It will be a fine, modern building, and will be fitted with complete appliances.

It is expected that on the completion of the new building the present Gouverneur Hospital will be torn down, and its site converted into a flower garden, which will adjoin the north wing of the new hospital and be walled in as part of the hospital property.

Prince of Wales Progressing Favorably. London, July 19.—The Prince of Wales, who is suffering from a fracture of the left kneecap, is making satisfactory progress, and is now able to walk, although he passed a restless night.

They climbed to the roof to capture Mr. Grady's burglars and found one gaudy old tomato doing a cake walk in the moonlight. Policeman Sheridan said Mr. Grady made him tired.

At 12 o'clock Monday night Mr. Grady was again awakened by the racket on the roof. He ran to the window and yelled for help. Policeman Sheridan, three blocks away, heard the cries and responded with two other policemen.

They climbed to the roof to capture Mr. Grady's burglars and found one gaudy old tomato doing a cake walk in the moonlight. Policeman Sheridan said Mr. Grady made him tired.

At 12 o'clock Monday night Mr. Grady was again awakened by the racket on the roof. He ran to the window and yelled for help. Policeman Sheridan, three blocks away, heard the cries and responded with two other policemen.

They climbed to the roof to capture Mr. Grady's burglars and found one gaudy old tomato doing a cake walk in the moonlight. Policeman Sheridan said Mr. Grady made him tired.

At 12 o'clock Monday night Mr. Grady was again awakened by the racket on the roof. He ran to the window and yelled for help. Policeman Sheridan, three blocks away, heard the cries and responded with two other policemen.

They climbed to the roof to capture Mr. Grady's burglars and found one gaudy old tomato doing a cake walk in the moonlight. Policeman Sheridan said Mr. Grady made him tired.

At 12 o'clock Monday night Mr. Grady was again awakened by the racket on the roof. He ran to the window and yelled for help. Policeman Sheridan, three blocks away, heard the cries and responded with two other policemen.

They climbed to the roof to capture Mr. Grady's burglars and found one gaudy old tomato doing a cake walk in the moonlight. Policeman Sheridan said Mr. Grady made him tired.

At 12 o'clock Monday night Mr. Grady was again awakened by the racket on the roof. He ran to the window and yelled for help. Policeman Sheridan, three blocks away, heard the cries and responded with two other policemen.

They climbed to the roof to capture Mr. Grady's burglars and found one gaudy old tomato doing a cake walk in the moonlight. Policeman Sheridan said Mr. Grady made him tired.

At 12 o'clock Monday night Mr. Grady was again awakened by the racket on the roof. He ran to the window and yelled for help. Policeman Sheridan, three blocks away, heard the cries and responded with two other policemen.

They climbed to the roof to capture Mr. Grady's burglars and found one gaudy old tomato doing a cake walk in the moonlight. Policeman Sheridan said Mr. Grady made him tired.

NO PARTISANSHIP, SAYS M'CULLAGH.

The Elections Superintendent Says "Force Bill" Will Not Be So De Facto.